Churchill in Malta

The British Prime Minister, Winston Churchill (1874-1965), visited Malta between 17th and 19th November 1943. He stayed at San Anton Palace at the courtesy of Governor Lord Gort. For most of his stay in Malta he was recovering from a severe cold. Churchill visited the dockyards where he received a warm welcome from the workers. Afterwards he visited Valletta where a crowd of people greeted him; he delivered a salute to the crowd from the balcony of the Governor's Palace. Churchill was accompanied by his two children. In February 1945 Churchill visited Malta again to meet the US President Franklin D. Roosevelt (1882-1945) at Montgomery House, Floriana to discuss the final offensive against the Germans. They left Malta together, flying from Luqa to Saki in Crimea to meet the Soviet Leader Stalin at Yalta.
